The appeal of the fatherless and motherless is not going to be unanswered inasmuch as the public school children have made up their minds that they are going to provide a home for those less fortunate than themselves. The campaign closes Monday night, the 27th, of October and every good citizen is urged to join the Orphans Home Club NOW. The Bank you do business with will be glad to take your name and subscription and you will get the credit for doing good to hundreds of orphan boys and girls who are asking for a chance to get along in the world. Farm Sells.

Mr. Milo Simpson sold his farm on the Buckeye pike this week to Miss Beulah Beasley for $250 an acre. The farm contains 100 acres and it is said by knowing ones to be worth the money.

Paid Promptly.

Big to state that the Insurance carried by my son, with E. C. Gaines' company, were first to settle, and it my friends, this type of an agent gives me pleasure to recommend to whose motto is "prompt settlement and service to the public."

E. G. Creech.

Decorators Here.

Mr. A. T. Beck of the firm of Wm. Beck and Sons Company, of Cincinnati, is here this week looking over the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse, preparatory for the decorations that will be used during the Corn and Tobacco Fair which will be held there November 20th, 21st and 22nd. This firm is one of the most extensive decorators in this section of the country, having decorated the Methodist Centenary building at Columbus. They have also decorated the Warehouse at Maysville where a similar corn and tobacco fair has been conducted for several years.

Strong Firm.

Hon. Emmet Puryear and Mr. Sanders E. Clay, both prominent attorneys of Danville, the former the Commonwealth Attorney for this district, have formed a partnership as will be seen by their announcement in this issue of the Record. These gentlemen will practice law in the courts of this state and in the U. S. Courts. This combination will fees will be at Danville. Mr. Clay make a strong legal firm. Their looking after the office work, while Mr. Puryear is looking after the commonwealth's interests throughout the district.

Democratic Speaking.

The Democratic County Campaign Committee has booked a number of good political speakers to address the citizens of the county during the next week. Hon. John W. Newman is to speak at Paint Lick this evening and the town has already been billed for the event. A good crowd should hear him.

Next Monday, county court day, Governor Black will speak in the court house beginning promptly at 1:30 o'clock. This should bring to Lancaster one of the largest crowds seen here in several months to hear the distinguished Governor discuss the political issues of the day.

On Thursday, October 30th, at 7:30 o'clock, Hon. Rufus Hardie will speak at the court house. A good crowd should turn out to hear him, for he is one of the best orators and statesmen in America.

Remember the dates and attend every speaking if possible.

Foot Ball At

Nicholasville.

Captain Todd Elliott with his band of Foot Ball Workers will journey tomorrow Friday, to Nicholasville where they will play that school at 3:30 P. M.

This is expected to be a good game as the Local High intends to bring Victory back to their institution the same as they did last Friday.

Quite a large crowd will accompany the boys over there as they all know L. H. S. has a Foot Ball team to feel justly proud of and they are willing to back them and show good school spirit.

LANCASTER BAND LIEUTENANT SKOW

New Organization Making Good Progress.

Fourteen Pieces.

Perhaps there are many subscribers to the Central Record that are not aware that Lancaster has a brass band and one that she is justly proud of.

A few months ago this musical organization was effected and they have practiced unceasingly once a week since the organization, until now they are brave enough to play in public and many were fortunate enough to hear them at the court house last Friday night at a meeting of the citizens of the town called together in the interest of the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse. At this meeting several musical numbers were rendered, each one being well executed and each number bringing hearty applause from the pleased audience.

They have been furnishing music for a number of public sales in the county and by this means have accumulated a little savings, something much needed in an organization of this character. The band is composed of a splendid set of young men, some very young, but they make just as much noise as the older ones and always in harmony and in perfect time.

They should and doubtless have the encouragement and co-operation of the citizens of the town and county, all of whom will take pride in encouraging them and when music of this character is needed, call out the Lancaster band, which will lend encouragement to them and partially repay for the many hours they have practiced so faithfully for the past six months.

The band is composed of fourteen members, who are as follows with the instrument each plays:

Noel Hogle, Cornet; S. N. Davis, Cornet; Claude Conn, Cornet; Richard Henry, Clarinet; Henry Moore, Sr., Bass; Henry Moore, Jr., Baritone; Stephen Sutton Trombone; Allen Johnson, Trombone; John Estes and Willie Mullins, Alto's; R. S. Courts, Saxophone; Bryan Sutton, Bass Drum; Cecil Sanders, snare drum; Cecil Henry, Cornet.

CORN AND

TOBACCO FAIR

To Be Big Event.

This office is getting out a large amount of advertising literature for the Garrard County Fair Association and prospects were never better for the best fair of this character ever seen in this part of the state. The premium list will be out in a few days and as Garrard county has a bumper crop of both corn and tobacco this year we look for this county to carry off her share of the many prizes offered.

If you want to get some of the particulars just call on either the President, Mr. Peddicord or its secretary, Mr. Robert Kinnaird.

ERASMUS DUNN

Passes Away At His Home On Danville Pike.

Mr. Erasmus Dunn, one of the oldest and most successful farmers in Garrard county passed away at his home on the Danville pike last Saturday morning about ten o'clock after an illness of several weeks due to extreme age and complications.

Mr. Dunn was in the 84th year of his age and all his long life was spent in this county and on the farm where he passed his last days.

He was one of the most successful farmers in the county and owned at the time of his death about 600 acres of land.

His wife died about three years ago. No children were born to this union and the nearest relatives living are nieces and nephews.

Mr. Dunn was a member of the Christian church, having united with this denomination when quite young. His passing away removes another of Garrard's oldest citizens.

The burial took place in Lancaster cemetery last Sunday afternoon conducted by Rev. F. D. Palmeter, a large circle of friends and acquaintances attending the last sad rites.

As you wish your own children to do well we feel sure you will help these unfortunate little ones who have no one to help them.

Well Known Flyer Has Close Call.

FALLS INTO OHIO RIVER.

Lieut. Charles L. Skow, so well known here where he camped during the Aviation Recruiting last July and his stay in the city during the last Liberty Loan drive last May, had a narrow escape from death near Evansville, Indiana, last Monday. His thrilling stunts in the air while here will be long remembered.

The dispatch states that Lieut. Skow and his mechanic were flying over the Evansville Centennial Exposition grounds with several thousand people watching them. Flying close to the water the wheels of the plane are reported to have touched the water overturning the airplane and plunging the aviator and his assistant into the water. They were strapped in but as the airplane sank both succeeded in getting loose and rose to the surface as motor boats came up to rescue them.

Lieut. Skow is one of the best-known pilots from Godman Field at Camp Knox. He was flying over the Army Horse Show at Churchill Downs Saturday afternoon, and gave the crowd many thrills with his nose dives and spiral dives adding a "loop" now and then. He left for Evansville Monday morning to give an exhibition of flying at that place.

This young aviator is one of the most daring in the business. He has faced a dozen or more accidents during his career at Godman Field as a pilot. He smashed up two planes in one week last fall, one when he crashed into a pole at Camp Zachary Taylor carrying as a passenger Major Forest Braden. Another plane was burned when it caught fire while flying at a small town out in the State. Army officers said that Skow is one of the best flyers in the game, but seems to have a streak of bad luck when flying.

It will be remembered that when the "flying circus" was in Louisville bringing more than a dozen planes to the city, Lieut. Skow was called upon to accompany the "circus" to Lexington. Out of all these planes Skow was the one to take a tumble and smash another plane.

Despite his numerous accidents he has not suffered a scratch, nor has he injured a passenger. He has turned over in airplanes fallen to the earth, narrowly missed being burned up in his machine and now his latest stunt narrowly escaped drowning.

"Putting Kentucky On The World Map."

The above is the subject of an address to be given at the Court House, Tuesday, Oct. 28th, at 7:30 P. M., by Rev. L. L. Pickett, of Wilmore, Ky. This address is in behalf of the State-wide Prohibition Amendment. This is to be a mass meeting and every one is invited to come. Mr. Pickett is a noted temperance speaker who has been in Lancaster before.

Notice To All

Ex-Soldiers.

You no doubt have by this time received the letter from Dr. V. G. Kinnaird, as Post Commander of this Post, asking and urging that you become a member of the American Legion.

The letter very briefly tells you when the American Legion was formed, what it is and what it stands for. It is the desire of the Post Commander to get all the boys from Garrard County into this Legion.

The Legion meets every second Thursday in each month, and there are always matters of vital importance that come before the body of Veterans.

This is strictly a civilian organization, non-political, and only members that have been discharged from the Army, Marine, or Navy with an honorable discharge can join same.

The membership fees are two dollars ($2.00) and you will receive the benefit of being a returned veteran, it will help you to straighten out any matters that may confront you.

In each one of these letters are cards that you are asked to fill out and return to Billy F. Miller in order that all the records of this county may be completed.

If you desire to become a member and want to assist us in the big day that will come off in Lancaster, November 11th, "ARMISTICE DAY" give your name to either Post Commander Dr. Virgil G. Kinnaird or Secty and Treas. Mr. Benjamin Wood at McRoberts Drug Store.

DR. ACTON

AND FAMILY

To Leave Lancaster.

Purchased Property At Muncie, Ind.

It will be a source of regret to the friends of Dr. J. M. Acton to learn that he and his family will leave Lancaster in a few months to make their future home at Muncie, Indiana. Since coming to Lancaster about twenty years ago, Dr. Acton has achieved splendid success here in the practice of his profession, making quite a name for himself as a surgeon, as well as in his general practice.

A few weeks ago he sold his home and hospital to Dr. Virgil Kinnaird and a few weeks later purchased a hospital in Muncie. The Daily paper of that city has the following to say of his recent purchase:

"A deal whereby the old Whitney hospital at 515 South Council street, passed into the possession of Dr. John M. Acton of Lancaster, Ky., a widely known physician and surgeon, was consummated Tuesday with the purpose in view of equipping a modern hospital for the convenience of citizens of this region. The consideration in the deal, which was closed through W. Y. Chaplin, was $12,000.

Dr. Acton announced that the building, which had been used during the last four or five years only for the private practice of Dr. W. D. Whitney, will be improved throughout and that perhaps forty beds will be installed. The building has twenty large rooms.

The new owner comes to Muncie with recommendations as being among the best in his profession. He is of middle age and has had a wide experience. He recently was discharged as a surgeon in the United States army during the world war.

Since the closing of the Mix hospital in August, Muncie has had only the services of the Home hospital, which, although well equipped and giving excellent service, has long been regarded as too small to meet the needs of a community of this size. The re-opening of the Whitney hospital is expected to relieve the situation to an appreciable degree.

The Whitney hospital is the oldest in the city, having been opened more than 25 years ago. For a number of years it was the only hospital in the city and served both the public in general and persons sent there at the city's expense under a special arrangement.

Dr. Acton expects to rush the work of improvement and will re-open the hospital at the earliest date possible."

E. P. Brown Residence.

Don't fail to attend the auction sale of the West property now owned by E. P. Brown, on Stanford street next Monday, county court day, at 2:30 P. M.

Buys Auto Funeral Car.

Mr. J. A. Beazley, our local undertaker, has just returned from Cincinnati, where he contracted for an Auto Funeral Car. The purchase was made through Crane and Breed Mfg. Co., and he expects to receive it about December 1st.

Tobacco High.

Mr. Ed Naylor sold his crop of tobacco to be delivered over the floors of the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse for 75 cents a pound, taking everything from the ground up. This is one of many of the best crops in the county and good judges think it will bring $1.00 a pound over the local floors.

Gosney Farm Sells.

Swinebroad is still selling them. He sold the N. J. Gosney farm of 145 acres yesterday to Mr. Floyd Curtis, for $276.00 an acre. The personal property of Mr. Gosney was sold later and brought good prices.

Mr. Swinebroad also sold the Gwinn farm in Mercer county for an average of $301 an acre.

Great Cattle Sale.

About three hundred people attended the public sale of Aberdeen-Angus cattle belonging to Brushaw Brothers yesterday and the bidding was spirited. Forty head of the thorough breeds went under the hammer and brought an average of $250.00 a head. A cow and calf purchased by Smilie Hill topped the sale, bringing $1,065. Mr. W. L. Lewis of Moreland, bought a choice calf for $600.00.

Quite a lot of grade stuff sold bringing from 6 1-2 to 7 1-2 cents a pound. This was light cattle weighing about 600 pounds.

CONSOLIDATED

SCHOOLS

Showing Record Attendance In This County.

Garrard county is proud of her three Consolidated Schools, one being at Paint Lick, one at Buckeye and the other at Buena Vista. Our County Superintendent informs us that the attendance at all of these schools are very much increased over any previous years, the one at Paint Lick showing an enrollment of 290 pupils. This indeed speaks well not only for the splendid schools and teachers, but also speaks well for the co-operation that is being shown the schools by the parents and children.

While the attendance has been exceptionally large, yet we understand there is quite a few that are not yet enrolled.

An extract from the compulsory Attendance law as amended by the last Legislature says:

"...the teacher at the end of each week shall report the name and age of each child between the ages of seven and fourteen years, inclusive, who fails to attend school for a period of three days during the week, to the sub-district trustee or chairman of the board of trustees. It shall be the duty of the sub-district trustee or chairman of the board to immediately investigate said case, and if it neglect or refusal on the parent, guardian or other person having the custody of such child, the trustee or chairman shall immediately report said case to the nearest court having jurisdiction of same, and it shall be the duty of said court to immediately issue its warrant against the parent, guardian or other person failing or refusing to send said child to school and said court shall proceed to try said cases as other criminal cases are tried. Any person or persons failing or refusing to comply with all or any part of this section shall be fined not less than five or more than twenty dollars."

More City

Property Sell.

The bidding was quite spirited at the public sale of the Lancaster Ware house last Saturday afternoon, it finally being knocked off to a company of local gentlemen for $5,080.

The W. R. Cook residence and ten acres of ground was sold publicly also last Saturday for $10,050, the purchaser being Mr. John T. Hicks.

W. O. Rigney Honored.

Mr. W. O. Rigney is being heartily congratulated upon his election as Grand Master of the First Veil, at the annual election of the Grand Chapter Royal Arch Masons held in Louisville Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. This office leads, without contest, to Grand High Priest, the highest office at the disposal of the Royal Arch Mason of Kentucky. This honor is worthily bestowed and Mr. Rigney is equally as happy as his friends and deeply grateful for the high honor they have so graciously given him.

How Mat Cohen Spends Your Money

Facts for the Taxpayers of Kentucky

Mat S. Cohen, Commissioner of Agriculture and Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, employs more people in his department and spends more money than any other three combined departments of the State government. It is very important to the taxpayers, especially the farmers, how this money is spent.
In three years, Cohen's personal traveling expenses, which you taxpayers pay, have piled up to a total of $4,150.00, an average of $1,383.33 per year. In 1917 he charged you taxpayers $5.00 per day for ten days for attending the State Fair in addition to railroad fare and a hotel and taxicab bill of more than $100.00. Does anybody pay you to visit the State Fair?
Vouchers on file in the Auditor's office at Frankfort show what Cohen has been doing with your money. Below are a few samples of the extravagance of this man Cohen who, four years ago, solemnly promised you taxpayers to spend your money carefully and economically:

COHEN CHARGES YOU EXTRA FOR DOING HIS JOB

The minute Cohen was elected to office he got the state legislature to raise his salary, but the legal department of the state ruled he could not have it. As Commissioner of Agriculture, Cohen is a member of all the boards in his department and his duty is to attend their meetings regularly as a part of the work for which you taxpayers pay him a salary. But Cohen charged you from $5.00 to $10.00 a day for attending meetings of various boards. The total you paid him for this was $620.00 for 35 days, an average of $17.71 per day. Easy money for answering "Here" at roll call.
Cohen was paid $100.00 upon the order of the Veterinary Examiners' Board and it was charged to the Veterinary License Fund. The Attorney General ruled the claim was illegal.
Certain clerks in Cohen's department draw money in addition to their salaries. One was paid $30.00 a meeting for attending four meetings of the Live Stock Sanitary Board. She draws a regular salary of $2,100.00 a year which you taxpayers pay. Can you beat it?
Another clerk gets a salary of $1,200.00 a year and in addition she is paid an extra $400.00 as clerk of the State Board of Veterinary Examiners. Pretty soft.

WHAT'S IN THE STATE FAIR BOOKS?

On Oct. 6, the Republican State Campaign Committee asked the privilege of having the State Fair Books examined by certified public accountants. Cohen at first consented, but later denied the privilege. When threatened with a law suit, he said he would submit the request to a meeting of the State Board of Agriculture, Oct. 25, a few days before the election.
The books of the State Fair belong to the taxpayers who contribute huge sums of money each year to help keep it going.
Among other items in those books are vouchers showing Mat Cohen's personal expense account. Why does Cohen object to an immediate examination of those books?

ED MORROW AND

THE FARMERS.

Edwin P. Morrow admits he opposed pardoning five Grant County farmers who had been convicted of violating the anti-trust laws in proceedings in the Federal Court. Morrow was district attorney when the farmers took an appeal from the district court which convicted them to the Court of Appeals, which affirmed their conviction. His name appears on the brief of the government in that appeal case, in spite of his declaration that "I had nothing to do with the prosecution of these farmers."

Now, it should be borne in mind that the Republican party never made a move against the tobacco trust while the tobacco war was on in Kentucky. The Governor of Kentucky did not even attempt to institute proceedings against the trust, whose exactions were rapidly making anarchists out of peaceful farmers, which robbed these farmers right and left without benefit of clergy, which offered them a price for their tobacco sometimes under the actual cost of production and assured them that they "could take it or leave it", and that was true; there was no other buyer. When the tobacco growers revolted against such conditions the heavy hand of the law was laid upon them, but not upon the trust. "My troops" even were called out to suppress violence caused by the robbery of the farmers by the trust, but not a move was ever made by the Republican administration, state or national to relieve the suffering farmers.

Women and little children toiled through the burning heat of July and August to help the struggling husband and father raise a tobacco crop. He was unable to employ any other help. The trust took the crop, the tears of the mother and the worn children and their work having been in vain, the prices frequently amounting to confiscation. It is little wonder they wanted to do themselves what the government of their state and nation should have done for their protection. But in this case the Republican party ran "true to form." Always a trust party, kept in power by the trusts, like the devil himself it looked after its own. The farmers were the ones who got the ax. One who would vote for Ed Morrow now deserves all that the G. O. P. may hand him in the neighborhood of the cervica vertebrae.

TRIBUTE

To Memory Of Mrs. Mary Lackey.

In a letter to her daughter, Rev. Frank Arnold, well remembered here, pays the following beautiful tribute to the memory of Mrs. Mary Lackey:

"In writing an estimate of your dear mother, I find it both easy and hard. Easy, because there are so many things about her so in evidence of strong character; hard, because I can not do justice to the subject. For she was many-sided.

First she was a good mother, then a consistent Christian, then a helpful citizen. She had character and mind; she had heart and soul; she rang true on things worth while; she was genial, cordial, kind; and she never compromised a principle. Her strength of body, mind and spirit were remarkable. The letters she wrote me would have done credit to her at half her age. I was struck with her penmanship, spelling, phraseology, connectedness—the strength of it all—something I never knew before in one of her age. I remember her tireless efforts in my behalf, her loving kindness and thoughtfulness. I remember my last talk with her, and now that the boatman has taken her away, at the noiseless dip of the oar, may she rest in that which our dear Lord has prepared for her—the "rest that remaineth". And may He love you, too, sister, and keep you close. The Father bless you."

The provision of the law in brief are,

PROVISIONS OF THE LAW.

"Sec. 3. If you have a child working for you during the day, or at any time after school hours who claims to be sixteen years of age or over, and you have no proof in your place that the child is sixteen years of age or over, and a labor inspector proves that the child is not sixteen years of age, as claimed, you have broken the Child Labor law and both you and the child's parents are liable to prosecution in the courts, and to a fine of from $15 to $50 for the first offense. The child's word or the parents word, or the parent's sworn affidavit is not sufficient proof. Or if you accept a false statement of age from the child, or a false statement of age from parents of child, or a false affidavit as to the age of the child working for you, dismissing the child does not excuse you, and both you and the child's parents are liable to prosecution.

Before child starts to work for you have child bring you a written statement of age from the school child attended, and keep statement of age in your place while child is working for you. Or, if a child is a Catholic, have a baptismal certificate brought you and keep same in your place as long as child is working for you.

"Sec. 4. If you work a child between fourteen and sixteen years of age before 7 o'clock in the morning, or after 6 o'clock in the evening of any day in the week, or for more than eight hours in any one day, nor more than six days in any week, you are breaking the Child Labor law and are liable to prosecution in the courts and to a fine of from $15 to $50 for the first offense.

"Sec. 5. Return working permit for child between fourteen and sixteen years of age to the Board of Education within two days after child leaves your employ, as there is a penalty of $10 for not returning these permits within two days.

"Sec. 6. Boys under fourteen years of age or girls under eighteen years of age cannot sell anything, or engage in any occupation on the street or in public places. Boys between fourteen and sixteen years of age must have badges from the Board of Education and wear them when selling newspapers, or anything else on the streets or in public places. Any person supplying boys under fourteen with any merchandise for street selling is breaking the Child Labor law and is liable to prosecution in the courts and to a fine from $15 to $50 for the first offense.

UNFINISHED

WAR WORK

Remains Yet To Be Done By Red Cross.

During the war the energies of the Red Cross were concentrated on extending aid and comfort to military and naval forces and relief to civilian populations. This war-time task is not yet fully performed. To men still in service and to their families at home, to discharged soldiers not yet readjusted to the routine of civilian life, to boys suffering or convalescing in military and naval hospitals, the American people must still give cheer, comfort and service through their Red Cross. In certain portions of Europe the American Red Cross must still care for undernourished babies, and for the aged and infirm, and must assist war-ravaged countries to organize their own resources to preserve the vitality and lives of their people. While all these responsibilities at home and abroad have steadily lessened in volume and scope and are gradually moving toward completion. They cannot be abandoned until they are fully met. The Red Cross can undertake no plans that do not include this unfinished war-work as their first obligation.

The next Red Cross drive has been fixed for November 2nd, to 11th. Be prepared to do your duty toward the success of this splendid organization.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weakness and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is included in orderlies, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Take them. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand, in sealed packages.

"BUDDY"

By EVA GOLDBERG.

Preparations were being made at "Idlers' Lodge" for the invasion of "The Jolly Ten." Polly French, their president, left on an earlier train than the other members, with plans for dressing up the crude bungalow and replacing isolation by a homelike atmosphere.

Buddy Moore, her acquaintance of half an hour, she had already adopted as camp mascot, and the little fellow proved his worth by running errands in the locality so unfamiliar to the newcomers.

"Now what a cozy touch that gives," Polly convinced herself, while she surveyed a corner where stood a settee upon which were arranged gaily-colored pillows. A picture here and there—several pennants tastefully distributed—what a transformation it made on the bare wall!

While Buddy ran out to gather some wild flowers for her vase, the industrious girl undertook to repair a broken rocking chair. Missing her aim, the hammer heavily struck her finger.

"My, but that hurt! What a fierce blow! And was the hand swelling?" The happy youngster, with an armful of fresh posies, rushed in to display them. Excited Polly glanced at herself in bungalow attire, then at Bud.

"Sorry, do you know where I can get a doctor? See what I've done!"

"I don't know, Miss Polly," he ventured with childlike hesitancy, "but I can go to the village and find out."

"The village—less, your heart—that's half a mile down. You're an angel." And she stroked his crop of golden hair. "Aren't you afraid to go all alone?" she inquired. "You can read a doctor's sign, of course?"

"Sure I can," he assured. "I'll say M. D., don't I? I can read—I'm seven now—in the second grade—we read hard books and write with ink, we do."

"All right, dear, then remember—the first sign that reads M. D.," she shouted as he ran towards the door.

The little chap was half way down to the village when he passed a house whose brass doorplate attracted his eye, for it was displayed in large black lettering:

M. D. CLARKE.

Proprietor, Sunrise Studios.

Spying the initials, and without attempting to decipher the rest, which was beyond his power, the youngster rang the bell and summoned the owner of that long title. A serious appearing young man approached him.

"Miss French says for you to come right over—she's hurt herself and it hurts dreadfully," the boy announced without any ceremony.

Morton D. Clarke was in a quandary.

"French," he asked. "Who is she?"

"You'd better hurry, 'cause she's afraid her hand's poisoned," the little messenger warned, ignoring the direct question.

The artist followed the speedy little footsteps that led to the road which introduced "Idlers' Lodge" where the patient was now in severe pain.

"Oh, doctor," she explained, upon meeting the listless, breathless stranger. "I would have called at your office only that I am not acquainted with this town and so sent—"

"Doctor?" he interrupted, "but there must be some mistake, girlie. I'm no doctor, but an artist—up here for the summer."

"Let me waste no time, though," he suggested when noticing the exposed wound; "perhaps I can help you by 'planning for one.'"

In a moment he was gone.

Returning from the station, Mr. Clarke assured Miss French that a physician would arrive in 10 minutes. In the meantime he tried to make her forget her suffering by his engaging manner and interesting conversation.

"Now tell me," he urged, "who ever played a joke on me and gave you my name as being a doctor?"

Buddy, overhearing this, amusingly vindicated himself by proving the existence of an M. D. on Clarke's name.

Both Morton and Polly laughed heartily, and after medical attendance had given relief, she was better fitted to enjoy the event occasioned by well-meaning, innocent Buddy.

Soon the artist very thoughtfully volunteered to finish the decorations about the cottage, and by applying his artistic knowledge, great improvement did he achieve.

How satisfied Polly was! And wouldn't the girls be surprised and delighted at the welcome sight!

Nine tired vacationists greeted their president on the front porch, and one observing young lady, cycling a sun, whispered to Polly, "What a flirtation already?"

But in a short time everybody knew the reason for the men visitor's call.

At the end of a well-spent vacation, everybody vowed their return in another season to that ideal spot. And so it was to be—only, were they gifted with the power to look ahead a year, they would foresee themselves as "The Jolly Nine," with a new president at the head, the former being Mrs. Clarke.

And again, looking ahead and peering on the veranda of the "Sunrise Studios" they would hear Morton say to his wife, while recollecting the instance that brought them together, "And yet the folks say, 'what's in a name?'"

NOTHING like following up a good show with a good smoke—Chesterfield.

No ordinary cigarette, this. Mellow as an old friend, but rich with flavor—the kind that goes right to the spot.

Our own buyers in the Orient select for us the choicest Turkish leaf. We blend with this several varieties of specially selected Domestic tobacco. This blending—by a secret method—brings out new qualities of flavor that other and less expert methods fail to find.

That's what we mean by "satisfy"—an entirely new kind of smoking enjoyment that you get in Chesterfields only—nowhere else; for the blend is a closely guarded secret. It can't be copied.

Saw It on the Way.

Billie was soon to have his third birthday and could hardly wait for the party his mother promised him. Every day he inquired about it. His mother told him his little birthday hadn't come yet and that he must wait until it came. He ran to the window and said: "Oh, mamma, I see it now coming up the road."

Nothing Gained by Laying Temper.

What's the use of losing our tempers over trifles? There's never one solitary bit of good resultant. Of course annoying things will happen. Of course the temptation will come if we're normal people—and most of us are. But the losing of temper doesn't help matters a bit. It incapacitates us for right action, even when the losing seems excusable. An angry person who cannot govern self is not apt to wisely strive to better conditions, at least, until the fit of anger is over.—Chicago Daily News.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sickness, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Connales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days. I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go. I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery. My stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me."

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle. I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui. Try Cardui today. B 76

CHINESE BECOME SOCIAL PIONEERS

Men and Women Form Good Fellowship Club Together Under
Y. W. C. A. Leadership.

The Good Fellowship Club has made its appearance in society in Hanchow, China.
It began with the desire of a progressive young Chinese doctor to give his compatriots, especially the Christians, some beneficial form of social intercourse.
Channels for a good, clean, social life among Chinese people are very limited. Until recently becoming a Christian often meant cutting oneself off from one's friends and relatives,
also from feast days and festivals.
As for joint meetings of men and women—well, such a thing was never heard of in decent society.
The young doctor's plan of having a club where men and their wives might come together to enjoy a good time with each other was discouraged and snuffed at. However, a few people agreed to be pioneers in the cause of social intercourse, and Y. W. C. A. secretaries agreed to help make the club
a success.
At first the meetings of the club were laughed at by outsiders and the whole affair considered a joke. However, the members kept on meeting,
first at one house and then at another.
Soon the men got over the feeling of strangeness at starting out with their wives on Tuesday evening for a friend's home. The women began to enjoy the outing and to take part in the discussions—an intelligent part,
too—much to the surprise of their husbands.
The membership grew. The club's name began to spread. At first the discussions of the club were conducted in English. Soon it became necessary for them to be carried on in Chinese so that more of the women could understand and take part. Many of the sufferers began to apply for admission.
The members began indulging in much friendly chaffing and occasionally forgot their dignity to play jokes on one another. Finally it became so large that it had to be divided into two sections, which met separately three Tuesday evenings in the month and on the fourth Tuesday met together for a joint session, with a special program.
Students just returned from American and German colleges, an old Buddhist scholar who is particularly interested in the discussion on Buddhism and Christianity, merchants, railroad and government officials compose the men's side of the room. The women are still a bit shy about talking in front of so many people, but many of them show signs of great executive ability and power of leadership. They are all well poised, clear thinking individuals, who will have a great influence on China's future. They discuss among themselves group meetings in their various churches, the lack of amusements for Chinese women, social service work, subscription lists for the orphanage, cake making, types of stoves, baby diets, the latest engagement and other topics such as one would hear discussed by a group of women gathered together any place in America.
The social part of the evening is given over to games, which at first astound
the sober Chinese gentlemen, but which they take up with great zest after the first evening. And their wives enjoy it just as greatly.
Real American pleasures are the latest thing which the club has tried, and they are a great success. A Christmas play is being planned now.

ENGLISH IS COMMON TONGUE.

Chinese Girls Learn to Talk to One Another.
Chinese women students in the Tung Fu College, Peking, China, are obliged to learn English in order to talk with one another because of the different dialects used by the student body.
Girls from the extreme western provinces of China, who attend the school, must remain in Peking during all of the eight years required for their high school and college training, because to return each summer would require six weeks for the trip one way and would cost more than a trip to America and return.
Girls from each of the western provinces speak a different language and they cannot understand one another any more than they can the girls from northern, southern, eastern or central provinces. Hence, they have adopted English as a common tongue.

NEW SCHOOL FOR CHINA.

Y. W. C. A. Secures New Site for Girls'
Physical Training School.
A new home has been found for the Physical Training School which the Young Women's Christian Association has opened for native girls in Shanghai, China.
The school, while in the country, is not far distant from the National Headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. in Shanghai nor far from the local Y. W.
C. A. The grounds cover eighteen "mow," which means approximately six acres, and are divided by a private road. A foreign residence already on the grounds will be used by the American teachers, while native buildings on the other side will furnish living quarters and classrooms for the 35 students.
The grounds boast a garden, tennis courts and an athletic field.

BLUEBERRIES

By HELEN AHLQUIST

Betty had been picking blueberries since 5 o'clock that morning and with a great sigh of satisfaction as she noticed that the top of her pail was nicely rounded with berries on top at last started for the little red farmhouse where she had been boarding with "Granny" and "Grampy" Hobbins for the past two weeks. She existed in town over a longer 48 weeks of the year and lived for the four she spent in the country each summer. She sang as she trudged along, with never a care in the world except getting back home in time for dinner.

She had gone about half way when she spied a bunch of mountain laurel by Atwood's ledge. She had often heard "Granny" Hobbins bewail its scarcity in their vicinity, so she carefully put her pail of berries under a clump of bushes which were near by and started off to get a bunch of it.

"They'll be perfectly safe there," she thought, "and I'll only be gone a minute anyway."

But she was gone over an hour and got back just in time to see a young man ruefully trying to gather up the contents of the pail. He had spilled every berry!

"You see," he started apologetically, "I—"

"Don't you dare to say another word," Betty interrupted rudely, "you—"

"I was just going to—" he continued valiantly with his explanation, only to be cut short again by Betty.

"I don't care what you were going to do. You spilled every one of my berries—every one of them," she added tragically. "You ought to be arrested for robbery, so there! I think you're a—yourself!" But she couldn't think of a word of sufficient expression to describe him, so he took advantage of her pause to finish his explanation.

"To all down," he murmured contritely.

Betty gave him a look of withering scorn and started on her way again while he stood watching her repentantly.

"There isn't a thing I can do about it," he murmured hopelessly. "She's a regular little spiteful."

Betty was nearly home when she remembered that she had left her mountain laurel behind and went back to get it. When finally she reached the farmhouse there sat the offender on the piazza comfortably chatting away with "Grampy" Hobbins. "Grampy" saw her from the kitchen window and hurried out to introduce her to the new boarder, for, as she so often said, "Grampy" will forget little things like that, you know."

Betty acknowledged the introduction frigidly and as frigidly excused herself. "Grampy" looked with a troubled expression from one to the other and then hastily followed Betty upstairs.

"Why, Honey, what's the matter? I never saw you in such a mood before. Mr. Moore is a friend of Will's, and I'm sure he couldn't be near! I was just going to ask you to show him around the farm."

"Oh, I couldn't do that," exclaimed Betty in horror. "I just couldn't. Why, he's the man that spilled my blueberries!"

"Grampy" was a most sympathetic person usually and she realized if she laughed at Betty's tragic statement that she'd never be forgiven. She hastily ran down stairs, shutting the door behind her, and then sat down and laughed till the tears rolled down her cheeks. She even took "Grampy" and Mr. Moore into her confidence and the three of them considered it a huge joke.

But they had figured without Betty. She didn't think it a joke, and for the whole week didn't say a word to Mr. Moore. She avoided him whenever she could, and when this was impossible, looked miles past him if they chanced to meet.

"Never you mind, Mr. Moore," "Grampy" consoled him, "she's stubborn as a mule, but she'll get over it; just you wait and see if she doesn't."

And that very same day Betty did "get over it." The Hobbins went shopping down the "square," and left Betty at home to get supper. Moore, leisurely reading in the hammock, could hear her singing as she worked, and regretted that such a small accident should keep them from being friends. "She's acting just like an eight-year-old," he thought, "and all she needs is a good spanking!" His thoughts were rudely interrupted, and quickly he ran to the kitchen.

"Oh, Grampy, Grampy, oh anybody," she cried, "the kitchen's on fire!"

And sure enough—somehow or other the box of kindlings by the stove had caught, and was blazing merrily away, but the two of them put it out in a second. After the excitement was over, Betty bravely started to thank him, but she only stammered for a while, and then quite suddenly burst into tears.

"Oh, come now, please don't," urged poor Moore awkwardly, "really, you mustn't do that. You see," he added brightly, to cheer her up, "I'm glad it happened, because now we're going to be friends, real friends, aren't we? I never put much stock in Fate before, but I guess he's a pal of mine after all. Betty, you can't hold out against blueberries and Fate, can you? Well, just get to be friends!"

And Betty, smiling up at him through her tears, agreed with him!

COMFORT OF HOG MOST DESIRABLE

Well-Made Sanitary Wallow Is Like Coney Island Bathing Beach for Porkers.

CONCRETE TYPE IS POPULAR

Grower Faces Two Temperature Extremes in Many of Pork-Producing States—Many Farmers Neglect Proper Shelter.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is as natural for the hog to want to wallow as it is for the small boy to scurry to the old swimming hole with the first breath of spring. Hot weather is hard on fat animals, the portly porker included. That is why a well-made, sanitary hog wallow is like a Coney Island bathing beach for the hogs. A popular and serviceable type of wallow advocated by the United States department of agriculture should be made of concrete about 12 inches in depth and large enough to accommodate the herd of hogs. The wallow should be supplied with a satisfactory intake and outlet so that it can be filled about two-thirds full of water and drained every few days, or as often as is necessary to keep the pool fresh and clean. At the present time a test is being made at the experimental farm of the department of agriculture at Beltsville, Md., to determine the value of the cement hog wallow as a comfort for hogs. The results of this investigation will be published upon completion early in the fall.

Temperature Extremes.

The hog grower in many of the leading pork-producing states faces two temperature extremes during the year. During the winter, unless he provides comfortable houses and warm quarters, his hogs are likely to suffer from the cold, while in the summer season he must handle the animals under conditions of extreme heat. Any animal as fat as the average hog which is to be marketed in the late summer or early fall suffers greatly during hot weather, and unfortunately many hog farmers neglect to provide shelter and protection for their hogs from the extreme heat. During hot weather hogs need an abundance of shade—natural shade, such as is furnished by trees and bushes being the best.

Some of Uncle Sam's Porkers at Beltsville, Md.

Temporary Shelter.

Where natural shade and shelter are not available, the hog owner should put up a temporary shelter by building a framework about 4 feet high and thoroughly covering the top with brush, straw, grass, or hay. This inexpensive sunshade should be of sufficient size to protect a herd of hogs in comfort as they lie under it. As a rule, the ordinary hog house should not be used for shade purposes during the summer. Each year hog mortality is comparatively heavy due to "porker sunstroke" induced by maintaining the hogs in the open without sufficient protection from the ruddy glow of Old Sol's furnace.

APPLY MANURE IN ORCHARDS

Failure of Many Trees to Produce Fruit Is Due to Lack of Necessary Plant Food.

Undoubtedly the failure, or partial failure, of many fruit trees to bring forth a crop is due to lack of plant food. Professional orchardists look after this matter, but the average farmer who has a few trees, which he dignifies by the name of "orchard," gives scant heed to providing them with fertility. He may turn the sheep or the calves in among them but such fertility as they add is apt to be of slight value, comparatively speaking.

YOUNG ANIMALS NEED CARE

They Should Be Given Such Attention as Will Insure Them Most Favorable Start.

The young animals should require such care and attention as will give them a favorable start. Every practical animal husbandman knows that unless he is in a position to give his young animals plenty of the right kind of feed and protect them from cool rains and other animals they will not thrive. This is where a good beginning means a favorable ending.

Relieve Your Rheumatism For 25c.

NR does it by improving digestion, assimilation and elimination—the logical way.

NR Today—Relief or No Pay

There are three vital processes of the body—the digestion of food, the extraction of nutrients from it and the elimination of the waste.

Let anything interfere with these processes—let them be interrupted or improperly carried on, and sickness of some kind follows.

Poor digestion and assimilation is a failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, cramps, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, excites the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism,—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons,—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body. Think of this. It explains the success of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) in so many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using NR Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain things? A box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days—must cost you, must give you prompt relief and satisfactory benefit or cost you nothing.

And Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the whole system. You'll feel like a new person when you've taken NR Tablets a week. You've tried the expensive medicine and failed, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

In Memory of RICHARD CULLISON HENRY, who departed this life Friday Sept. 12, 1919.

Dear brother, we miss you so. Fighting life's battles alone, Oh! the sorrow, the heartaches we suffered. When the angels were calling you home.

Loved ones around you were waiting, Praying for hope of life for you. But the angels in Heaven were beckoning thee, Homeward over the sea.

Little by little our hopes faded, As we watched, and bated your feeble brow, We had never thought of parting, As it dawned upon us now.

Oh! our hearts were full of sorrow, As we thought of days gone before When we played as little children With mother watching at the door.

From the window by your bedside, We could see our boyhood home, We could see the hills and valleys, Where as boys we used to roam.

And we turned and looked upon you, As you lay so cold and still, And our hearts were almost breaking As we murmured, "Tis Thy will".

Father we pray that thou will heal us Give us courage this shock to bear And lead us to that celestial city, Where there'll be no parting there.

And we pray thy blessings, Father, Upon his babes and faithful wife, Lead them, guard them always, Father, Through this to a better life.

We have parted with this loved one As we ran't on earth remain, And tis far us heartaches, sorrow While for him eternal gain.

Father, help us daily help us, Guide our footsteps as we come, And we'll meet him, Oh! we'll meet him, In that Great Eternal Home.

Pray make us strong, Dear Heavenly Father, And daily teach thy promise fair, That when we meet in you Great City, The family circle will be unbroken there.

Freeman Tilden has lately been there for THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, and, with his humorous spectacles on, he has watched the retired farmers at work and play. He has written several articles which will be run as a series. At the same time there will start another great new series, "Doing His Best with What He's Got"—real stories of
